

じゃれマガ 2010 for the 3rd year students

written by Douglas Jarrel

No. 2

---

前回の答

Thursday, April 1, 2010

(The suits will have) wings (between the arms and the body.) ( )の部分はなくてもよい。

Friday, April 2, 2010

(you could) understand any animal sound (with this software.)

---

Monday, April 5, 2010

Yesterday was Easter Sunday.

イースター祭 (詳しくは辞書を参照)

It is a very important day for Christians.

キリスト教徒

People go to church, and in many countries they celebrate Easter with eggs.

祝う

I remember coloring Easter eggs when I was a child.

色を塗る

There is often an Easter egg hunt outside.

探すこと

Adults hide chocolate eggs outside, and children run around and look for them.

隠す

The child with the most eggs gets a prize, but everyone can eat the eggs that they find.

関係代名詞 (2学期に習います)

Tuesday, April 6, 2010

Now there is a Japanese mother in space.

Yamazaki Naoko has gone into space on the space shuttle Discovery.

She will meet another Japanese astronaut on the International Space Station.

Noguchi Soichi is already there doing spacewalks.

Yamazaki *has been training in the U.S. since 2004.

Every astronaut takes something personal into space, so she is taking a small koto with her.

It will be interesting to hear how the koto sounds in space.

*現在完了進行形 (高校で習います) 継続用法の時には現在完了形よりもこちらの形の方が多く使われます。